FORWARD MOTION PHYSICALLY INTEGRATED DANCE FESTIVAL & CONFERENCE
RETURNS TO MIAMI SEPTEMBER 22 T0 25
Third Annual Event Feature Ohio's Dancing Wheels,
Marc Brew from AXIS, Tampa's REVolutions Dance and Karen Peterson and Dancers

(Miami, FL: July 13, 2021) – Countries around the world are both reassessing society through the lens of diversity, inclusion and equity, and are working to slow and end the pandemic of COVID-19. Arts and culture that address who we are at this moment can be a vital part of both change and recovery, and the third annual Forward Motion Physically Integrated Dance Festival & Conference, taking place in Miami from September 22 through the 25, aims to do just that. Venues include Miami-Dade County Auditorium, and the Koubek Center-Miami Dade College.

Returning after being canceled in 2020 when performing arts venues were shuttered, the Festival showcases companies, dancers and choreographers who are inclusive of those with and without disabilities, exploring a new terrain of beauty, movement and performance. Produced by Florida’s own groundbreaking physically integrated dance pioneers, Karen Peterson and Dancers (KPD), this third event will truly mark the start of South Florida’s reopened performing arts season, and feature some of the best dancers and companies of any kind, in performance, in discussion and holding workshops.

With ongoing lead support from the National Endowment of the Arts, KPD has put together a notable program that will appeal to Miami audiences, as well as help define what physically integrated dance is in 2021. The line-up includes:

• Dancing Wheels Company, one of the leading physically integrated groups in the United States. The company tours globally presenting innovative works from nationally acclaimed choreographers such as Heidi Latsky, David Dorfman and David Rousseve. The Cleveland Plain Dealer calls them, “Energized and pulsing.”

*Choreographer Marc Brew, Artistic Director of AXIS Dance Company, the acclaimed physically integrated ensemble based in Oakland, CA, returns to Forward Motion to set one of his solo pieces on Miami-based wheelchair dancer Jesus Vidal de Leon. Brew was formerly a dancer in London’s Candoco Dance Company, one of the world’s top physically integrated groups, and The Scotsman said he, "Knows exactly how to touch his audience in all the right places."
• Tampa’s REVolutions Dance, is a physically integrated company that has performed around the country. Artistic Director Dwayne Scheunemann is a former member of Oakland’s AXIS Dance Company, the leading physically integrated group in the United States, and the company returns to Forward Motion for a second time this year.

• Karen Peterson and Dancers, one of the leading physically integrated dance companies in the Southeast United States, tours and collaborates internationally. They were recently named “Best Dance Company” by the Miami New Times, and MiamiArtZine calls their work, “Intricate and meaningful…an eye-opening experience.”

"It’s with much relief and a renewed sense of commitment that we are bringing Forward Motion back to South Florida this September, after more than a year of reduced contact with our audiences," says Karen Peterson, Founder and Artistic Director of both her own KPD company, and the Forward Motion event. “Dancers and choreographers find beauty in the world – much needed right now – through the work we do, and that's especially true for those of us pushing the boundaries of physical differences to discover new vocabularies and possibilities.”
